PARIS HILL

Eugene L. Jackson
Eugene L. Jackson passed away at the Maine General Hospital, Portland, Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 4, where he had been ill for several days with double pneumonia.

He was born in Paris, May 10, 1854, the third son of J. H. Jackson and Mary Stone Jackson and passed his early life on the home farm at Jackson's Crossing. While yet a young man he went to Brownston, Minn., and joined his brother, Thomas, in the purchase of a large farm where they prospered and made their home until about ten years ago when they sold the farm and Mr. Jackson came to Maine for his summer and enjoyed the fine weather of Florida and Washington winters. He spent most of his time with his brother, Bert Jackson, at the old homestead when in Maine, but he passed away a year ago and the place was sold and he spent the past summer with his sister and nieces.

He was never married. He was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and in politics was a staunch Republican.

Mr. Jackson suffered a severe heart attack last summer while stopping with his niece, Mrs. Jessie Jackson Andrews, at South Woodstock and has been under the doctor's care ever since although he made the trip to Orono, Oregon this fall intending to spend the winter with his brother, Thomas, and wife but the climate did not agree with him there and three weeks ago he returned to Portland, stopping with his cousin, Nellie Jackson, and her aunt, Mrs. J. H. Jackson. They did everything for his comfort but he steadily grew worse and when taken with pneumonia he was moved to the hospital. While in the hospital he had been tenderly looked after by his niece Miss Eva Jackson, and nephew, Roy Hammond.

He is survived by two brothers and one sister, Kate E. J. Hammond, and three sons, Fred J. Jackson, Auburn and Thomas J. Jackson, Orono, Oregon. The funeral was held from the home of his niece, Mrs. Fred Scribner, Pleasant Valley, Portland, Feb. 6, at 2 P. M., Rev. Chester G. Miller officiating with interment in the cemetery nearby.

Many beautiful flowers paid silent tribute to the dear one who had just stepped beyond. It can be well said he was a good, upright man in every way, always looking after other people's comfort. He will be sadly missed.

The Sunshine Club met with Mrs. Maud Andrews, Thursday, Feb. 12.

Francis Slattery was in Portland, Friday, Feb. 13, attending the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Carrie Brigham.

Mrs. E. L. Paris was in Lewiston to see her son, who is still in the C. M. G. Hospital.

Walter Fogg has installed a radio set at her home.

Robert York has been ill. Some of his friends got him 1-2 cords of dry wood.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Crockett are visiting Mrs. Crockett's daughter, Mrs. George Woodbury at North Bergrade.

Mrs. Kate Lewis, who has been ill for 10 weeks at the home of her niece, Mrs. Edna Cummings, is comfortable at this writing.

Some of the younger women are trying their luck at snowballing. I guess they make it good, have heard of no serious accidents.

Pride of Country

Are we proud of Our Country and as grateful for the advantages it gives us as we should be? It is often stated that Californians are greater boosters for their state and its resources than are the citizens of any other state in this Union but Maine is soon to come into its own as a booster.

Why should not every citizen of this country be an active booster for a nation which has gone farthest in any other in world in giving liberty, property rights, business opportunities, home conveniences, educational advantages and amusements to its people? Why should not our schools and colleges emphasize to a greater extent the advantages of a citizen of this nation under our constitutional form of government?

Until something is proposed which would in a small measure give us protection and advantages equal to those which we now receive, we should express greater thanks for what we have and be less ready to list the thoughtless agitator or professional politician who, failing to appreciate the advantages which surround him, seeks to foist impractical theories or visionary experiments upon a people already blessed with a government better than any other so far devised.

When you feel like kicking, look around you. Practically every American citizen can own his own home if he so desires. He can travel to his work either in an electric car or over a system of highways such as the Romans never dreamed of.

In his home gas and electricity do work equal to that done by a score of servants to former kings and queens. The American telephone system furnishes a communication service in the humblest homes beyond the wildest dreams of world famous rulers of the past.

Our property is safeguarded, our workmen are cared for and our lives are protected by an insurance system unheard of a hundred years ago and which is rapidly eliminating the pauper and the poor house.

Kindlin and his lamp have been made a reality by the radio which, in conjunction with wire communication, has annihilated distance and, as the people of the world become better acquainted through our modern methods of communication, will eliminate war. The homesteader in the mountains can tune in his radio set and listen to the music, lectures and amusement programs of the world.

Our farmers are learning the advantages of applying business methods to agricultural pursuits. Our industries are profiting by making their employees and customers students in their proper ties. Gasoline has made individual transportation possible so that vast sections of the country heretofore impossible of settlement on account of distance, have been opened up and are today pouring their produce and business in over improved highways to the greatest railroad transportation system in the world.

What a picture paint! Forests, mines, transportation, oil, electricity, telephone, gas, radio, modern farm machinery, factory buildings finer than the castles of history, roads and road building methods such as the world has never before seen, and an educational system which offers the poor man's son advantages which the nobility did not have a few generations ago!

Think of these things when you hear the croakers and the knockers. Learn a lesson from California, where the children are taught that the sun is brighter, the sky bluer and the advantages greater in their state than anywhere else in the world. Let us build up pride in Our Country, not in a boastful or arrogant manner, but with a sense of appreciation that we are so fortunate as to live in a land where opportunities and advantages for the poor and the lowly are greater than the luxuries offered favored and wealthy persons a short century ago.

Super-Educated Females

Judge Towne of Franklin, N. H., in his Rambler column has this to say: "A gentleman whom I was working along a highway street one day last week when he overtook three small school girls about six years old on their way home. They were chatting about their school work and they replied in the same manner. He asked about the papers they had and one showed hers. It was an examination in numbers and marked 98. The man complimented her on her work when another Miss came up and said: "I got 100."

This led him to ask the first why she did not get the same, and she said, "I guess you must have written 2 plus 2 is six instead of four, did you not?"

This she denied, and just then reaching their corner they ran away with a pleasant word of farewell.

The man was thinking what a nice little trio it was when he heard one of them say, "That man is a damned liar."

SICK WOMEN SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED

Letters Like This Prove the Reliability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Turtle Lake, Wisconsin.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness, backache and nervousness. I had these troubles for years and had taken other medicines for them, but I have found no medicine so good as the Vegetable Compound and I recommend it to my friends who have troubles similar to mine. I saw it advertised and thought I would try it and it has helped me in all my troubles. I have had six children and I have taken the Lydia E. Pinkham Vegetable Compound before each one was born, for weakness, vomiting, poor appetite and backache, and again after childbirth because of dizzy headaches. It is a good medicine for it always helps me. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for the last eight years for constipation. I am MABEL LAPOINT, R. F. D. No. 1, Turtle Lake, Wisconsin.

In a recent canvass, 98 out of every 100 women say they were benefited by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
